

When breaking down the layout of the website, I focused on creating a clear and intuitive structure that enhances usability and navigation. The header serves as a key focal point, providing a large space at the top for the website logo, ensuring brand visibility. Placing the search bar in the center makes it easily accessible for users to find content efficiently. The account settings sidebar on the right allows users to manage their profile, while the main sidebar on the left serves as a navigation panel for quick access to different sections of the site.

The central area of the layout is dedicated to the main video content, ensuring that users can immediately engage with the primary feature of the site. Below or beside the video, a description section provides context, additional details, or related content. This structured approach keeps the most important elements front and center while maintaining a balanced and user-friendly design. By organizing the layout this way, users can effortlessly navigate between different sections while staying focused on the primary content.
